NOOSA PROPERTY MARKET REPORT

Year 2024 in Review

Year 2024 in Review

The 2024 property market concluded on a balanced and stable note, providing a fair environment for both buyers and sellers. This year's spring market reflected typical seasonal activity, with auction clearance rates consistently between 50% and 60%.

This stability allowed vendors to sell with confidence whilst giving buyers an opportunity to enter the market without facing the extreme competition of boom conditions.

Adrian Reed

While most capital cities experienced a retraction over the past year, Noosa has remained largely resilient holding onto the post COVID gains that have underwritten values for 2024. Noosa remains one of the most remarkable property markets in the country, with a 10-year growth in medium house values up 166% vs 70.4% for Sydney, 90% for Brisbane and a sobering 49% for Melbourne.

Standout properties continued to attract strong demand, including on the waterfront of Noosa Sound and Noosa Waters, beachfront and hinterland all achieving marquee sales throughout the year.

The increase in construction and trade costs has transformed buyer preferences, with many now prioritising complete properties ready to move into over homes requiring renovation work. With steady market conditions and growing confidence from both vendors and prospective buyers, the outlook for 2025 remains positive, suggesting stable growth ahead for our region. So, as we kick off 2025 we can see the green shoots of volume growth, with local buyers as well as the migration of tree-changers and sea-changers, who are back in the market, seeking their next property.

Looking forward, I anticipate 2025 likely to be very similar to 2024, particularly in the first half of the year.

The market is expected to remain stable, the only speedbump is likely to be a short period either side of the Australian Federal Election as we wait for certainty to kick back in.

Adrian Reed

Sustained population growth, driven by inbound interstate migration and as well as a concentration of buyers moving from Brisbane competing for limited housing supply will continue to drive demand for Noosa property.

The government's role in fostering a healthy property market cannot be overlooked. The recent change in state government has already stimulated confidence, bringing with it a spur in activity and enquiries that had otherwise softened by late last year. If there is a change in government at the next Federal Election, which is being held before the end of May, it is likely to boost the market further in the second half of 2025.

Interest rates continue to be a major topic of concern and while I don't foresee any rate cuts on the horizon early in the year, I would suggest that by mid-2025 there is likely to be some relief for property owners. If rates are lowered, it will help alleviate financial pressure, allowing more buyers and homeowners to navigate the market with greater confidence. This shift is likely to encourage increased activity in the market.

Overall, whilst conditions may not change dramatically, the market is likely to maintain the current steady demand for quality properties and interest in rural lifestyle investments will also continue.

Finance & Economy Review

With inflation stabilising and interest rates expected to decrease, 2025 will be well positioned to build on existing confidence in both property and broader financial markets. Australia's economy, deeply connected to global markets, is shaped by the performance of its major trading partners. Despite forecasts in early 2023 predicting possible recessions worldwide, many economies, including Australia's, have continued to grow. In fact, this growth is stronger than expected, even edging beyond what the Reserve Bank of Australia (RBA) might prefer

While global inflation has shown signs of peaking, recent data suggests inflation in Australia is stabilising. The RBA's 13 interest rate hikes have yet to significantly curb consumer spending, revealing resilient spending habits among Australia's residential market, valued at a staggering $11 trillion, carries only $2.3 trillion in debt*. Nationally over half of homeowners are mortgage-free, that number is forecast to be significantly lower in Noosa LGA with census data suggesting it to be as low as 31% providing a solid foundation amidst broader economic challenges.

Looking ahead to 2025, the property sector remains one of Australia's strongest assets, supported by high home equity and financial stability among homeowners. This points to promising prospects for investors and homeowners, with property values driven by limited supply and high demand. Despite high construction costs, government initiatives to incentivise development and speed up approvals are expected to gradually improve housing availability, offering growth opportunities.

With inflation stabilising and interest rates expected to decrease, 2025 will be well-positioned to build on existing confidence in both property and broader financial markets. As consumer sentiment strengthens, demand for residential properties and strategic investments is likely to grow. The property industry's strong foundation, paired with an anticipated increase in housing supply, positions Australia well for sustainable growth, making 2025 an optimistic year for real estate stakeholders.

Tewantin

Throughout the past year, economic uncertainty has weighed on the national property market, causing both buyers and sellers to proceed with greater caution. In Tewantin, this sentiment has resulted in a quieter, more measured market. However, redevelopment sites continue to attract strong interest, and key streets in “Old Tewantin” remain highly sought after.

Recent sales highlight this trend. For instance, 4-6 Hay Street, a large land parcel with Noosa River views, sold for $2.66 million. This property, ideal for two new homes, reflects the ongoing demand for prime redevelopment opportunities. Another notable sale was 51 Ward Street, one of Tewantin’s key streets, which sold for $1.33 million. Its proximity to the village further contributed to its strong appeal.

Its location, close to Noosa but away from the hustle and bustle, remains a significant draw. Over the past year, 157 houses sold in Tewantin, with a median of just 36 days on the market. The suburb has also seen solid price growth, with the median sale price increasing by 12.7%, reaching $1.15 million. In contrast, the unit market in Tewantin has faced a decline, with prices down 19.5%. The median sale price for units is now $650,000, with 37 units sold and a median of 44 days on the market.

While market uncertainty persists, Tewantin’s property sector continues to show resilience, with well-located, quality homes still attracting strong interest. Buyers are more discerning, but the right property in this desirable location remains highly valuable.
